Open the Door to a World of Words

Provide Access to the Whole Curriculum

In every classroom, some students will be struggling to access learning because they are unable to read the materials in front of them. Where the reading age is lower than a learner's actual age, the C-Pen Reader 2™ can step in a solution, straight out of the box.

It can also be personalised to support slower speeds of processing and through simultaneous reading and listening can support the needs of students with speech, language and communication difficulties.

Includes the Oxford Primary Dictionary

“The ReaderPen™ encourages independence, raises self-esteem, and enables the children to feel included in the same learning as their peers. It has had a hugely positive impact on not only learning, but also on wellbeing.” - Mrs. Amy Healy, SENCO, Manor Park Primary School

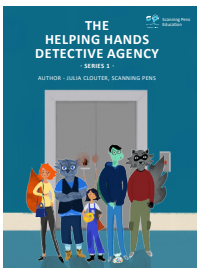

“The ReaderPen™ enables children who struggle to read to be able to access the curriculum independently. We have a number of students who are able mathematicians but struggled to access the reasoning problems due to the worded problems, they can now do this on their own and have excelled since the introduction of a ReaderPen™.” - Mr Daniel Pring, Deputy Head, Snodland CEP Primary School

“The ReaderPen is an amazing resource. The look on the face of the children when they use it for the first time and realise that they can now access any text is priceless! They give the children confidence and open up their world.” - Mrs. Mason, SENCO, Woodhouse Primary Academy

“A student has been able to get really good SATs scores as a result of using the Scanning Pen alongside other interventions. In terms of his scores, we were expecting a standardised score in the mid 80s and he was able to score a reading score of 95 which we and he are extremely proud of.” - Samina Hussain, SENCO, George Dixon Primary School
