Enabling Independence through Technology

British Assistive Technology Association

Overview

We pride ourselves on providing independent advice regarding Assistive Technology. We are not tied to any one manufacturer of equipment and, as such we have a wider range of up to date products in our portfolio. This enables us to build a completely person centered solution, built to specific requirements.

We source best of breed products not only from within the UK but from all around the world.

Our list of suppliers is extensive and we are constantly looking for new partnerships to increase the options available. If you, or someone you know would be interested in working with us please get in touch with us.

Services

Here are some examples of the services we provide:

Environmental Control Systems

Full control systems, which provide independent control of your own home.

These can be used to provide control of everyday items e.g. TV, Home Entertainment, Telephone, Lamps and Heating Controls. ECS systems can also be combined with other packages to provide:

Door Automation

Door operators to open and close internal and external doors within the property.

Curtain/Blinds/Window Automation

Systems to allow simple control of natural lighting and ventilation.

Security

We offer a comprehensive selection of locks from simple Yale style night latch releases and Mortice strikes, right through to fully fitted electric multipoint locking systems. These can either be supplied with a new door or retro fitted into existing doors.

Intercom Systems

Allowing users to communicate with callers at the door. Audio and video based systems available.

Standalone Systems

Not everyone wants a full control system, so we are also able to offer simpler standalone systems. In some cases, these do not even need an installation service as they are simply plug and play.

Lighting

We can offer simple solutions to enable the control of various different lighting systems, including wireless switches for minimal disruption to the fabric of the existing property.

Communication and Computer Access

We can provide solutions to enable easier access to computer based systems. This could be using adapted mice, keyboards, head movement trackers or eye gaze cameras. This can allow the user full control of various software solutions including AAC software for verbal communication.

Telephony

Easier operation of both mobile and land line telephones can be provided, for peace of mind access to the outside world.
